Custodial Practices

- Most location specific containers have liners. Lessens the frequency of having to wash out containers.
- Custodial specific large collection barrels
  - Empty smaller recycling containers into large collection barrels during normal cleaning routines
  - About 50/50 in the district in terms of whether they use a liner in the collection barrel or not. Some sites have easier access to slop sinks to rinse out barrels. Those that don't will typically line the collection barrels.
  - Dump loose barrel contents into the dumpster
  - Those using liners dispose of liners in trash when they are soiled. Swapping them into trash containers may also happen.
